REPUBLICANS MEET IN CONVENTION AT HALF MOON BAY

Adopt Platform, Select Delegates to State Convention and Choose County Committee.

A republican county convention for San Mateo county was held at Half Moon Bay on Thursday last.

The roll call consisted of sixty-four delegates who were nearly all present.

The weather was delightful, a slight fog that hovered overhead in the morning having dissipated early.

Delegates from all parts of the county went to Half Moon Bay by Ocean Shore trains, automobiles and buggies.

The convention was called to order in Portuguese Society hall shortly after 11 o'clock by C. T. Connelly of this city, chairman of the republican county committee.

Upon instructions by the chairman, H. O. Heiner of Redwood City, secretary of the county committee, read the call for the convention as provided by the direct primary law.

The roll call of delegates was also read by Secretary Heiner. Those delegates present responded to their names.

Upon motion of C. E. Cumberson of Redwood City, John MacBain of Menlo Park was selected temporary chairman of the convention.

Mr. MacBain was escorted to the chair by D. J. Lynch of Half Moon Bay and Dr. D. Blackburn of Pescadero.

J. S. Duffy of San Mateo was selected as temporary secretary and escorted to his place by W. J. Smith of this city and Geo. W. Lovie of Redwood City.

Both MacBain and Duffy thanked the delegates for the honor conferred upon them.

Chairman MacBain announced that the delegates were present to do business, and he hoped he would be aided in disposing of it promptly.

Mr. MacBain, who was later made permanent chairman, conducted the proceedings of the convention in a fair, prompt, careful and deliberate manner, and at its close many remarks were made that it was one of the best conducted republican conventions that has occurred in San Mateo county.

Upon motion of Geo. W. Lovie of Redwood City, Chairman MacBain appointed W. J. Smith (chairman), L. Huick, H. Sternberger, D. J. Lynch, and A. Montavalo as a committee on credentials.

Upon motion by the same delegate, the chairman appointed G. W. Lovie (chairman), B. S. Greene, E. I. Sheehan, A. S. Hatch and L. H. Ward as a committee on platform and resolutions.

Upon motion of Chas. N. Kirkbride of San Mateo, Chas. N. Kirkbride (chairman), C. T. Connelly,

W. H. Hooper, J. F. Wienke, and M. Goularte were appointed as a committee on permanent organization and order of business.

A recess until 1:30 in the afternoon was then taken.

The afternoon session was called to order at 1:45.

The reports of the various committees were read and adopted, and the temporary officers made the permanent ones.

It was decided to send six delegates to the republican state convention, and the following were selected: Hall C. Ross (delegate-at-large), W. J. Martin, Chas. N. Kirkbride, Chas. A. Cavala, Horace Nelson and Dr. D. Blackburn.

The committee on organization and order of business having decided to leave the number of county committeemen to be selected by the convention, nine were determined upon by the convention, as follows: From the first, second and third townships, two each; from the fourth and fifth townships, one each. At large, one.

The following were selected as committeemen—First township, C. T. Connelly and H. C. Rodgers; second, O. P. Hicks and F. D. Lorton; third, John MacBain and A. L. Lowe; fourth, D. J. Lynch; fifth, C. J. Coburn.

For committeeman at large, J. J. Bullock, J. S. O'Brien, Jesse Robb and John MacBain were nominated. Robb and MacBain declined, and Messrs. Bullock and O'Brien were voted for by secret ballot, with the result that Bullock received 35 votes and O'Brien 18. Bullock was declared elected by the chairman.

Later the committee held a meeting and organized by selecting C. T. Connelly of this city as chairman and A. L. Lowe of Redwood City as secretary. The next meeting of the committee will be held at San Mateo at the call of the chair.

The platform and resolutions adopted by the convention endorse the administrations of President Taft and Governor Gillett; Congressman Hayes' course in congress, "as being in the interest of all the people and no special class;" "we heartily endorse Hiram W. Johnson as candidate for governor; that we promise him our active support, and that from this day until the polls are closed on election day we all will be Johnson men."

The republicans nominated for county offices at the late primaries were endorsed, and "promise solid support of this convention and the county committee selected by it."

S. D. Merk of Burlingame introduced a resolution which endorses the proposition of the state issuing bonds to aid the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It was adopted unanimously.

Chas. Cavala presented a resolution endorsing the efforts of United States Senators Perkins and Flint and Congressmen Kahn and Hayes in trying to have the Panama-Pacific exposition located at San Francisco.

"Be it further resolved, and we hereby recommend to the committee of gentlemen having in charge the holding of said exposition, that it be held in the vicinity of Tanforan, it being the most accessible site yet offered; that from a scenic standpoint the surrounding hills above the site offer the most beautiful, picturesque and unobstructed view of San Francisco, her bay, her Golden Gate and our grand old Pacific."

Before adjourning, several speakers addressed the delegates, as follows: Henry Ward Brown, Geo. C. Ross, J. J. Bullock, A. McSweeney, Hall C. Ross, P. P. Chamberlain, C. D. Hayward, Roy Cloud, H. O. Heiner, Dr. H. G. Plymire, Jas. V. Neuman, and Kenneth M. Green.

Upon motion of Geo. W. Lovie the thanks of the delegates were extended to the people of Half Moon Bay for their hospitality and to the officers of the convention for their good work.

The convention adjourned with three rousing cheers for the republican ticket.

The class of 1914 of the University of California will be the largest in the history of the institution, according to figures given out by Recorder James Sutton of the University. Sutton announces that 925 students registered for the freshman class, which is 104 in excess of last year's figures. In addition to the freshman registrations, 141 graduate students registered.

The Sacramento Valley Development Association will undertake an extensive advertising campaign in the interest of the $18,000,000 bond issue for good roads which is to be voted upon by the people of the State at the fall election. The board of directors of the association decided at a meeting to have the secretary consult Governor Gillett with a view to formulating plans for the advertising.

The building of the Western Pacific cost more than 300 lives, according to information given out. Plumas, Lassen and Butte counties were the scenes of most of the losses. Blasting to make grades in these counties in the mountains and tunneling through the bluffs was accomplished only by the use of tons and tons of powder, which carried with it the greatest number of fatalities. This was due to the many inexperienced construction men working for the sub-contractors, who could not get expert labor to carry on the work in the early stages. As these men became skilled, there were fewer mishaps. Landslides and rolling rocks carried many into the canyons, while construction train accidents killed many more.

The new Land Hotel, owned by former Mayor William Land, has been formally opened with a big public reception. It is built on the location of the famous old State House Hotel at Tenth and K streets. Its 300 rooms make it the largest hotel in that section of the State.

All of the fires in the Shasta national forest are practically under control. They are what are known as "ground fires," and are burning at Bartle, at San Juan, in Butte Creek valley, at Wengler and near French Gulch. Sixty extra men are assisting the regular crops of fire fighters.

GENERAL
NEWS
HAPPENINGS

♦♦♦ The jury in the case of Mrs. Vera Prosser, charged with the shooting of her divorced husband, Reese Prosser, returned a verdict in court at Libby, Mont., after being out for fifteen hours. The verdict was: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty, on the ground of her acting in self-defense."

It is estimated that forest fires this season have caused a loss of over $7,000,000 in Oregon. The forestry service believes the Government by far the heaviest loser. District Forester Chapman, who has returned to Portland, considers favorable conditions in Southern Oregon but a lull in the storm. Nothing but a heavy and general rain can stop the continued destruction. The forester calls attention to the tremendous damage to young growth, seriously affecting the forests of the future.

Three former officials of the Illinois Central Railroad Company were arrested in connection with the alleged huge frauds, by means of which the railroad asserts it was defrauded out of $1,500,000. The men arrested were: Frank B. Harriman, former general manager of the road; Charles L. Ewing, former manager of the lines north of the Ohio; and John K. Taylor, formerly general storekeeper of the road. The warrants were sworn to by President Harahan of the railroad concerned. They charge the three men with conspiracy to cheat and defraud the railroad by false pretenses and with operating a confidence game.

Forest fires are raging in the mountains north of Redding through Trinity and Siskiyou counties to the Oregon line, and although they are being fought by scores of rangers and volunteers they continue to sweep through the wooded sections. The heat is oppressive, and no rain has been reported. The atmosphere is almost stifling at Weaverville, and all of the men in town have been summoned by the Forest Supervisor of the Trinity National Forest to beat back the lines of six big fires burning north of the limits of the town. The biggest fire on Bowerman Ridge, near Minersville, has coursed over 1,500 acres of ground, skirting, in a curious way, a large tract of valuable standing timber.

Western Pacific Loses Contract.

Although the Western Pacific and Quincy Western Railroads will be running daily trains between Quincy and the outside world, a contract has just been entered into by the United States Postoffice Department with a local stage company to carry all the Quincy mail for four years on the old-fashioned coaches which run between Quincy and Beckwith over a road that is in sight of the railroad nearly the whole distance of about forty miles. There has been a dispute between the Western Pacific and the Government over the mail contract. The railroad has refused to accept the short haul offered by Uncle Sam, inasmuch as it wants a through contract from Salt Lake to San Francisco, while the Government offers only a contract between Winnemucca, Nev., and Sacramento. The contract with the stage company amounts to almost $6,000 a year, as no passenger traffic can be secured since the railroad has entered the territory.

NATIONAL GUARD FUND

California Among Those That Receive Allotment.

Every state and territory in the Union, with the exception of Nevada, which is without militia, gets a portion of the Federal appropriation for the purchase of supplies and ammunition for the organized militia during the present fiscal year, in the first allotment of the $1,600,000 war fund. The department has reserved about $40,000 of the fund for emergencies.

According to the allotment, which was made according to the enlisted strength of the organized militia in the various states, five states get more than $50,000 each. Of these New York leads with $206,000, Pennsylvania follows with $140,000, Illinois with $84,000, Massachusetts with $78,000, Ohio with $73,000 and New Jersey with $54,000.

Of the others, Alabama, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Wisconsin get each more than $25,000.

SAN FRANCISCO PRODUCE MARKET

Latest Conditions and Prices of Seasonable Products of California

FRUIT—The market is sagging from heavy supplies of peaches from the river and Santa Clara. In freestones small 20-lb. boxes bring 30@40c. Varieties are: Late Crawford, Pickett's Late, strawberry and Deckers. Lugs of 40 lbs. sell at 60@75c. Lemon clings in small boxes 30@40c, Orange clings in lugs 50c. Plums and prunes in 20-lb. boxes are 30@40c, crates 50@60c, lugs 65c @ $1. Kelsey, German, Wickson and Columbia are the prevailing varieties. Damsons are scarce at 85c for 20-lb. boxes.

Local trade want grapes only in lugs, as there is no shipping demand. Malaga, muscat, seedless and Rose of Peru bring 50@75c for lugs. Tokays are not yet plentiful at $1 a crate.

The warm weather has been favorable for melons in the city, nutmegs bringing 75c@1.25 in 50-lb. boxes. Cantaloupes in 150-lb. crates $1.50@2.50. Watermelons are $1.75@2.50 a dozen.

Berries are unchanged, at $3.50@6 for straws and $4@6 for blacks.

Gravenstein apples are higher at $1.15@1.40 for 4-tier and 75c@ $1 for smaller. The market is clear of larger Gravensteins, eight carloads having been picked up for Eastern shipment. Eastern demand is especially good.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is coming in freely from all points and the market has fallen on extras, with weakness on firsts. Only a half cent divides the two grades, and, in fact, there is little but firsts offered. Since August 12th extras have stood at 31½c until the 22nd, when 31c became the ruling price. A shipping demand holds cheese firm at 16c for California fancy flats.

EGGS—Very heavy imports of Western stock has finally broken the market on California extras, which have dropped to 34½c, on the 23rd. The trade is now accustomed to Eastern stock, which is generally in prime condition, and the outlook for extremely high prices becomes less favorable as the date for unloading storage goods approaches.

POULTRY—A demoralized market has been strengthened by the prospective demand of the coming celebrations in San Francisco, followed by the Jewish New Year. Prices are unchanged.

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

SATURDAY... AUGUST 27, 1910

The chief lesson of the fire which destroyed the building of the Brussels Exposition, at a loss which will not be less than $10,000,000, is that a world's fair should have space enough to place its big and inflammable structures far apart and at a safe distance from the habitations of the city.—S. F. Argonaut.

The republican county convention of San Mateo county met at Half Moon Bay on the 25th instant and discharged the duty committed to it by law. It framed and adopted a platform, appointed delegates to the republican state convention and named a new county committee. The meeting was harmonious and there were no heartburnings at its close.

The platform places the republican party of San Mateo county in line with progressive republicans in the state and nation.

The direct primary not only harmonizes but it strengthens party government, in that it bases all government on the direct vote of the people.

The state of New York is at present the center of interest politically. A fight to a finish between the progressive and reactionary wings of the republican party in that state is inevitable. The "old guard," as the reactionaries style themselves, are in possession of the state offices and protected by the political machine, patiently builded and perfected by that skillful political engineer, the late Thos. C. Platt.

The "old guard" is led by Vice-President Sherman, Timothy Woodruff and the bosses big and little of the republican party of New York.

The progressives are captained by Theodore Roosevelt and Governor Hughes, with the tacit support of President Taft.

The main issue is nomination to office by convention vs. nomination by a direct vote of the people. The republican bosses have baffled Governor Hughes and defeated the movement to enact the direct primary law in New York.

There can be but one result in such a contest, and that will be victory for the people led by Theodore Roosevelt.

California's republican bosses are in mourning and preparing condolence for their brethren of New York, doomed to defeat in November.

GO TO TANFORAN ON LABOR DAY

As Picnic Day Draws Near, Wit and Humor Develop—Everybody Awaits the Hour.

One of the features of the games and sports among aspirants for athletic honors, on Labor Day at Tanforan Park will be a one-half mile race for men.

"A very indefinite contest," said the man who holds up the corner of the bank building two hours a day; "very indefinite, indeed. Why there will be representatives from all nations and nationalities down at that picnic. Every man will have equal right to contend for the trophy. But here comes the problem, any student of mathematics will discover by consulting an advanced arithmetic, or unbridged dictionary, that a mile in one country greatly differs from that of another country, and so confusion is likely to ensue."

"Not a bit of fear of that," promptly replied one of his hearers. "You are not the first to point out that little discrepancy, nor yet the first to grapple with it. The management of large picnics like this, maintain a literary bureau, whereby small as also great difficulties are satisfactorily solved. Bring your marathon legs with you. Show more speed than the others and the subject rests. Next on the program I noticed was a ball contest between the San Mateo cracked team and the picked nine of the state league. Many and various other attractions will be much in evidence, yet those mentioned will draw the crowd. Music will be rendered all day by competent musicians for all kinds of dancing—gaelic hornpipes and jiggling a specialty."

Governor Gillett has issued a proclamation calling the state legislature into special session on September 6th for the purpose of adopting measures which shall be submitted to the people, arranging to give financial assistance to the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1915. The probable plan will be to levy a tax of four cents for four or five years to bring in the needed revenue.

The Scrap Book

He Got the Key.
A night clerk in a fashionable hotel sat dozing at his desk along about 2 o'clock in the morning when a man faultlessly attired in evening clothes entered the lobby.

"I'M MISSE FERGSHUN."

Ferguson the key, and the guest disappeared in the direction of his room, which was on the next floor, only one short flight up. In about ten minutes a badly messed up man in his shirt sleeves, with a flattened silk hat on the side of his head and with one shoe on a foot and another shoe in his hand, came in and lurched up to the desk and said to the startled clerk:

"I'm Misser Fergshun. Gimme key to for-for."

"You're not Mr. Ferguson," said the now wide awake clerk. "Mr. Ferguson took his key and went up to his room ten minutes ago."

"I'm Misser Fergshun all ri'. Misser Fergshun just fell out er window 'n' left key inside. Kindly lemme have 'nother.'—Lippincott's.

"GIMME KEY TO FOR-FOR."

Whatever Is Is Right.

Know thy own point: This kind, this due degree Of blindness, weakness, heaven bestows on thee.

Submit: In this or any other sphere Secure to be as blest as thou canst bear, Safe in the hand of one disposing power, Or in the natal or the mortal hour: All nature is but art unknown to thee; All chance, direction which thou canst not see;

All discord, harmony not understood; All partial evil, universal good; And, spite of pride, in erring reason's spite, One truth is clear—whatever is is right. —Alexander Pope.

Du Chaillu's Vain Hunt.

Paul Du Chaillu was the most gallant of bachelors and always openly confessed that he was quite unable to resist the wiles of the fair sex, so much so that he had never been able to choose between them. On one occasion when he was "the lion" at a reception given by some intimate friends in New York the hostess in presenting him to one of her guests said:

"Let me present you to Mrs. —. You must know her, Paul, because she has just written a book."

"A book, madam!" he exclaimed. "Then indeed am I most delighted to meet her. I once made a book myself. But what is the title of your book?"

"The name of it is 'What One Woman Thinks.'" was the smiling response.

"Ah, indeed, and most interesting! 'What One Woman Thinks.'" repeated the great explorer. And then, with a simulated excitement, he added hastily: "But where can I procure a copy of it? I must have it at once—immediately. All my life I have been trying in vain to find out what women think, and if before I die I shall succeed in finding out just what one woman thinks I shall then indeed die content."

Time to Quit.

A little girl was on a visit to her aunt and had enjoyed herself very much until Monday morning.

On this occasion she accompanied her relative on a rent collecting excursion through a poor district where her aunt owned some property. As is often the case, they were in many instances met with excuses for nonpayment, and the little lady's countenance, as for the ninth time she heard the remark, "I'm very sorry, but I can't give you anything today!" took on an expression of great disgust.

At last she could restrain herself no longer.

"Auntie," said she, "I think I had better go home this afternoon. I am quite sure my mamma would not like to know that you had taken me round such dirty streets begging!"

GOVERNOR CALLS EXTRA SESSION

Appropriation of $10,000,000 For Exposition

Governor Gillett has issued a proclamation calling a special session of the California Legislature to convene at the Capitol in Sacramento on Tuesday, September 6th, for the purpose of paving the way for raising $10,000,000 for the benefit of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915. Copies of the proclamation have been sent by Secretary of State Curry to every member of the Legislature.

The Governor's call provides for the submission to the voters of the State at the fall election of a $5,000,000 bond issue, to be raised by the State for the fair, as well as allowing San Francisco's charter to be amended for the purpose of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city enough to allow a bond issue equal to that of the State. The Legislature is also to give San Francisco the right to use part of Golden Gate Park as well as school property for exposition purposes.

The Governor did not issue the call until after he had thoroughly gone into all the details of the venture. He believes that San Francisco should be in a position to go before Congress next December and show that at least $17,500,000 has been raised in this State for the fair.

Fair State-Wide Project.

"The fair in San Francisco is a State-wide proposition," said Governor Gillett, "and the people of the State should get behind the bond issue. It is a case of California beating New Orleans in the amount of money raised. In that way we will get the exposition."

The session is not expected to last more than two days. The State will be let off with practically little or no cost, because the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company has agreed to pay all expenses of the extra session.

WRECKED IN GREENLAND

Captain Mikkelsen Expedition Comes to Grief.

Captain Elmar Mikkelsen's expedition, which sailed June 20, 1909, on the Danish Arctic ship Alabama, to search for the bodies of the Erichson Greenland expedition, was wrecked during the winter on the coast of East Greenland, according to advices received at Copenhagen. Captain Mikkelsen and the entire party were saved and succeeded in effecting a landing on Shannon Island.

Electric Plant Makes Money.

Secretary A. D. Goldsworthy of the Board of Electricity of Alameda has compiled a report of the total earnings of the electric light and power plant for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, which were $109,973.81. The total cost of production was $67,789.03, leaving the net earnings $42,184.78. Included in the total cost of production is $13,414.52, allowed for interest, taxes and depreciation. The total number of patrons of the city's electricity department July 1, 1910, was 2887, a gain of 397 for the fiscal year.

Conductor Killed by His Own Train.

W. R. Barnes, conductor of a work train on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, was run over and killed by his own train Thursday last at Baltimore Park, between Sausalito and San Rafael. He had got off the train to turn a switch when the local passenger train to San Rafael, going at a good rate of speed, rounded a curve, and before Barnes could step from the track he was struck by the engine and thrown under the work train, the wheels passing over the lower part of his body. He was terribly mangled, both legs being almost amputated and his body badly lacerated. He was taken immediately to the Cottage Hospital at San Rafael, where he died within twenty minutes after the accident. He was 26 years old, unmarried, and lived near Cloverdale. He had been on the road only a short time and expected soon to be transferred to a passenger train.

MANY DEATHS IN GREAT FOREST FIRES

Search For Patrol Gangs and Burial of the Dead

The district forestry office at Missoula, Mont., has succeeded in compiling returns from all points included in the Montana and Idaho forest fires showing the total number of dead and missing in the forestry service, settlers and miners not included. While the returns are not complete from the Coeur d'Alene and Pend d'Oreille districts, it is thought that the final figures will make no change.

The result of the compilation given out places the known dead at seventy-nine. Seventy-three of these died in the Coeur d'Alene forest, four in the Cabinet forest at Tuscara and two in the Pend d'Oreille. These totals were the result of a day of searching. The name of each man recruited by the service for fire-fighting duty was systematically traced up and the whereabouts of every man definitely established. In the Coeur d'Alene forest some men are still missing and the reports are not all in from the Pend d'Oreille.

Report of Heavy Life Loss.

If the stories of men who returned from the St. Joe country of Idaho are to be believed, the loss of life along Big creek, a tributary of the St. Joe river, was appalling, and the dead in Idaho alone will number more than 200, even if Ranger Joseph B. Halm and his eighty-four men turn up, of which the forest officers in Wallace are not hopeful. Two lumbermen say they saw thirty Italian fire-fighters burned to death on Big creek.

A party of Austrian laborers report the death of seventeen of their comrades, and the loss of twenty-seven American laborers who enlisted in Missoula is announced by their surviving companions. Supervisor Weigle has given up hope for the safety of Ranger Joseph B. Halm, who with eighty-four men was in the thick of the fight on the headwaters of St. Joe river last Saturday. A relief party has searched in vain the whole country where Halm was last seen.

Ranger Ferns Is Safe.

Ranger F. A. Ferns, at the head of a still larger party on the St. Joe, is safe. The Forest Service announces the loss of twenty-seven men on Big creek, and it may be that these are a party of the ninety-five dead reported by their comrades in Spokane. It is supposed that the twenty bodies found on Bitter Root creek, near Avery, are those of settlers.

No Towns in Danger.

None of the towns in Idaho and Montana is in danger, and, in fact, the critical period of the fire is past. What remains to be done now is to seek out the missing, to find and bury the dead and to feed and clothe the homeless.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES Thrown out of a cart by a wild horse which he was breaking to harness, John B. Gray, a trainer, was probably fatally injured at the corner of Fourth avenue and Hopkins street, Oakland. He sustained a fracture at the base of the skull, a broken jaw, a cut that extends from the right temple to the back of the head, and many lacerations and bruises.

Carl Brown, a plumber, fell from a power-pole on which he had been working and was instantly killed at Chico, Cal. In attempting to save himself he grasped a wire carrying 30,000 volts of electricity, and possibly was electrocuted before his skull was crushed by the fall.

At the request of Deputy Marshal Chester Scroogis of Loomis, Cal., the San Francisco police took into custody Theodore Clacey and Elizabeth Emerson, both of Loomis. Miss Emerson is only 16 years of age, while Clacey is 42 years of age. According to the constable, the girl left her home without her parents' consent.

William H. Berger, the musician who, despondent on account of his failure to secure work, slashed his throat from ear to ear Friday night at the Hotel Ventura, died at the Lane Hospital, San Francisco. His father is a well-known musician, being at present the head bandmaster of the Royal Hawaiian Band at Honolulu.

The famous hotel at Green River Hot Springs, which was burned recently, was set on fire by tramps, according to Northern Pacific officials. The hotel had been closed and its new owners were about to begin extensive improvements. There have been no forest fires in Green River. Tramps burned two loaded freight cars at Hot

FOREIGN NEWS OF INTEREST

Five new cases of cholera and three deaths are reported from Trani, Italy, where the epidemic continues to cause serious apprehension. The disease manifests itself in its deadliest form, many of the victims being attacked without the usual symptoms and dying after a few hours. In other parts of Apulia the situation is more hopeful, the population now being more willing to assist the authorities to enforce hygienic rules. Under the strict measures adopted the march of the cholera to new localities has been checked.

Newspapers usually well informed report that the negotiations for the annexation of Korea by Japan are progressing satisfactorily and that announcement of the annexation will be made as soon as the proposals of Korea regarding the details of the arrangement are received.

Lieutenant Vivaldi of the Italian Army was killed in Italy by a fall from his aeroplane. He had made a trip from the military aviation field at Centocelle to Civitavecchia, on the Mediterranean sea, thirty-eight miles from Rome, and was returning to Rome when the accident happened. A few miles outside of Rome, for some unexplained reason, the machine dashed to earth. At the time of the accident the aeroplane was at the height of 1,000 feet, and the body of Vivaldi was crushed to an unrecognizable mass.

SHERMAN TO QUIT POLITICAL LIFE

Says He Will Retire At End of His Present Term

Unless Vice-President James S. Sherman changes his mind he will never again be a candidate for a political office. This construction was placed on a statement which he made at Watertown, N. Y. Vice-President Sherman repeatedly refused to say one word concerning politics to the numerous reporters questioning him. But it was learned that he did say something to some of the incorporators of the Northern New York Trust Company in which he is a heavy stockholder and came to Watertown on business pertaining to the company. He stated that when he retired from the office which he now holds he would quit politics for good. He declares emphatically that his statement was no joke, but that he meant exactly what he said.

"SUNNY JIM" SHERMAN

SNOW AND FROST IN THE EAST

Earliest Cold Snap in Colorado and the Northwest

Killing frosts, the first of the season, were reported Thursday morning from Havre, Mont.; Sheridan, Wyo., and Minnesota points. This is the earliest frost in the Northwest in years, but the fact that harvesting has been nearly completed, with the exception of flax, prevents serious loss. During normal years harvesting is at least three weeks later than it has been this year and the crops will not suffer greatly, with the exception of corn in Iowa, which will be seriously damaged if the cold wave continues on its journey southward and eastward.

All records in the Black Hills of South Dakota were broken by the first fall of snow of the year, in which nearly an inch settled to earth. It was accompanied by a temperature that reached 25 degrees and frost that destroyed all vegetation.

Cold Weather Hits Mountain States.

Weather records were broken Thursday morning throughout the Rocky mountain region. In Denver a temperature of 39½ degrees was recorded at sunrise, the lowest in the thirty-nine years' existence of the Weather Bureau, not only in August, but at any time between June 13th and September 11th. At Cheyenne the mercury reached 26 degrees; the same mark was recorded at Sheridan, Wyo.; and 24 degrees was recorded at Lander. At Laramie street thermometers recorded 20. Killing frosts occurred in many parts of Wyoming and vegetation was affected.

FORMER SENATOR DIES IN HOSPITAL

Veteran Who Saw Hard Service In Confederate Army

Cerebral hemorrhage was the immediate cause of the death at the Emergency Hospital in Washington of former United States Senator Wilkinson Call of Florida. Senator Call was stricken at his Washington home. He became unconscious and was conveyed to the hospital, where he remained in a comatose state until his death at 9 a. m. August 24th. Senator Call is survived by a daughter, Miss Lucy Call.

Serving in the upper branch of Congress eighteen years, from 1879 to 1897, Call occupied important places on several committees. He was a native of Russellville, Ky., and was 76 years old. In boyhood he went to Florida.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Call enlisted as a volunteer in the Confederate army and before the close of hostilities became adjutant-general of the Florida troops. After the war the Florida Legislature elected him United States Senator, but he was not then seated. Thereafter he began the practice of law in Jacksonville.

He was Presidential elector at large in 1872 and 1876, a member of the semi-national executive committee in 1876 and delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1876. After leaving public life Senator Call continued the practice of his profession in Jacksonville.

WISE LOSES NERVE IN COURT

Pirate Who Tried to Capture Steamship Buckman Breaks Down.

Supported by United States Marshal Elliot and Deputy Marshal Arnot, George Washington Wise, one of the pair who attempted to capture the steamship Buckman off Cape Blanco early on Sunday morning, sobbed and whimpered in the court of United States Commissioner Wright, when the warrant charging him with a crime that carries a death penalty was read to him. He was so weak that he couldn't rise from his chair. The pirate's nerve has completely forsaken him. He is a physical wreck.

The prisoner was transferred to the Alameda County Jail, where he will be held until he is taken before Commissioner Wright for a hearing.

The prisoner managed to make a request that the Commissioner appoint an attorney to defend him. Commissioner Wright explained that it was not within his power to assign an attorney to his case, but Assistant United States District Attorney McKinley stated that he would see that Wise was given legal advice. Later in the day McKinley secured the services of Frank A. Duryea to defend Wise.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Emile Ventax, second master mechanic of the French cruiser Montcalm, now in the harbor at San Francisco, scored 48 points out of a possible 50 in the monthly practice shoot of the Nationals held at Shell Mound range. Several officers of the Montcalm participated in the shoot.

Miss Elsie Aykroyd, the New England amateur, was the first to pass Hammersmith bridge in the swimming match on the Thames through London on Saturday. The length of the course is fifteen miles. There were forty-nine starters.

D. F. Teatty of Chicago won the half-ounce accuracy bait-casting contest at Chicago, establishing a new record of 99.57 per cent.

The champion American motor-boat Dixie II finished first in the international races at Larchmont, N. Y. The Duke of Westminster's Pioneer was disabled when she seemed a sure winner, and finished second. Both the other entries quit.

The stamp of approval was placed on the world's altitude record for an aeroplane, 6752 feet, established by J. Armstrong Drexel, the American aviator, when the Kew Observatory, after testing the barograph carried by Drexel, issued a certificate of its accuracy and the correctness of the figures. The flight was accomplished the evening of August 11th, when Drexel ascended from Lanark, Scotland, passed far above the clouds and after two hours' steady climbing descended near Cobbinshaw Loch, twelve miles from Lanark. He suffered severely from cold at the highest altitude.

ALL A MISTAKE.

By Which a Man Escapes One Bondage to Fall Into Another.

By EDWARD C. HANCOCK.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

I reached my destination at 11 o'clock at night, was driven to the L. hotel, was shown to my room and went to bed. The next morning I did not return to the room after breakfast, but did so at noon. An important matter of business absorbed my attention, and I was unmindful of everything else. My key did not work in the lock; but, turning the knob, the door opened. I concluded that either I or the maid who had put the room in order had left it unlocked.

Still thinking on other matters, I saw on the mantel a package done up in paper. It was about three inches long by two broad and an inch thick. At another time I would have examined it; but, with my mind full of business, I concluded it to be one of a number of small parcels I had taken out of my suit case when making my toilet in the morning, so I put it in my coat pocket.

Going to the stand to wash my hands, I discovered lying on it a ring set with two large diamonds.

I dropped my business matter and fixed my attention on the ring. Then I looked about the room. There was a trunk in it that was not mine. A wardrobe stood open, and I could see with articles of woman's apparel. I had got into the wrong room.

Had the ring not thus been exposed I would have simply retired. As it was, if I should be seen leaving the room and a thief should appropriate the jewelry I would be suspected of having stolen it. I concluded to take it to the office.

As I was leaving to do so I met a lady about to enter. She looked at me, flushed and asked:

"What were you doing in my room?" Before I had time to reply she called a porter who was passing and said:

"Hold that man till I go into my room and see if anything is missing."

She ran into the room while the porter kept me under observation.

"It's gone," I heard her say, and, coming out, she told the porter that she had left a diamond ring on the washstand and I had taken it.

"Pardon me," I said. "I got into the wrong room. I found your ring on the age I had found on the mantel. I went to my room—my own room this time—uncovered the package and displayed a bundle of letters.

Having convinced myself from the address on one of them that they were not mine, I wrapped them up again and put them back in my pocket.

I made up my mind that there was a story in these letters which was running counter to the story of my having inadvertently come into possession of them. I was to be tried for stealing the ring and perhaps would not be able to prove my innocence. Indeed, appearances were much against me. Might not these letters be used to induce the lady to withdraw her charge? I had no sooner thought of this than I took them to the office of an acquaintance and put them in his safe. I did not wish them to be recovered by search.

As soon as I had done this I wrote my accuser a note telling her that I had inadvertently appropriated some letters belonging to her and that she might have them by withdrawing her charge against me. She had become so sure that I was a professional thief that she wrote back stating that she would withdraw the charge and give me $500 for the letters. I wrote her that I did not ask money for the letters and that she was welcome to them if she would withdraw her charge against me. To this she acceded, and instead of sending some one to me with an order for them she appointed a meeting with me in one of the hotel parlors. I did not propose to be outdone by a woman, so I left the letters where I had put them.

We met as agreed. The lady was not over twenty-four years old and was quite comely. She was evidently of the upper class and had wounded my amour propre by not recognizing me for a social equal instead of mistaking me for a thief. She opened the negotiations.

"Are you a tool of George Norton?" she asked abruptly.

"I haven't the pleasure of the gentleman's acquaintance."

"You must have seen his name on the letters. They were addressed to him."

"I looked at one address, which convinced me that the letters did not belong to me."

"Do you mean to tell me that you haven't read them?"

"I do."

"Then how did you know I would value them so far as to offer so much for them?"

"I didn't until you made your offer."

"Will you please tell me how you restrained yourself from reading the letters?"

"Other people's letters don't interest me."

"I should have read them had I been you."

"Then your standard of honor is different from mine."

"I have made a mistake."

"Several. Which one do you mean?"

"I have been engaged to George Norton. I was warned against him, but would not listen. I stole my letters, which he would not return. I supposed he had employed you to get them back for him."

"Does he employ gentlemen for such purposes?"

For the first time she looked ashamed. She dropped her eyes and fidgeted with the ring I was to be tried for stealing.

"I didn't observe you closely when you came out of my room. I see now I was very much mistaken. I ask your pardon."

"Now that you have begun where you should have begun before, at the beginning, we can get on rapidly. Permit me to apologize for having mistaken your room for mine. I was absorbed in a matter of business. I put your package of letters in my pocket without being conscious of what I was doing."

"I see. I have acted very hastily."

I arose and touched a button. Then I wrote on the back of an old envelope an order for the letters. When an attendant came I told him to send for them. In fifteen minutes he returned and handed me the package. I handed them to the lady.

"But I have done nothing toward withdrawing the charge," she said.

"You will. I have no fear of that."

"Why?"

"Because I know you for a lady, and a lady once convinced that I am a gentleman, not a thief."

"Please don't."

"I would never think of charging me with being one."

"What shall I do to stop the thing?"

I advised her of the necessary steps, after which we went on with our chat.

"It seems to me," she said, "that I am the real thief in this matter."

"Why so?"

"I stole the letters from George Norton."

"That was not stealing. They belonged to you. You only took your own."

This had the effect to comfort her somewhat, though she still seemed much mortified at her treatment of me. I was not disposed to permit her to escape too readily from this mortification.

"I don't quite understand," I remarked, "why you thought it necessary to offer so high a price for your letters."

"I supposed," she replied shamefacedly, "that you were an agent of George Norton. I wished to induce you to give me the letters instead of giving them to him."

"In other words, I was considered not only a blackmailer, but a subject for bribery to turn against my employer."

She hung her head. Indeed, she seemed so pained at the position in which she had placed herself that I hastened to apply a balm to the wound.

"It was all a mistake," I said, rising. "For which you are sorry, as I am at having unwittingly trespassed where I had right to trespass. But I trust that it is a mistake that may give me a valued acquaintance."

I asked her where she lived, and when she replied that it was in a city not far from the one in which I resided I asked permission to call upon her when I went there. This she readily acceded, and I took it upon myself to go without waiting for anything except herself to call me there. I not only called once, but often, and finally persuaded her to do penance for mistaking me for a thief by marrying me.

And so it was that I narrowly escaped imprisonment for robbery, assuming later the chains of matrimony.

washstand and was taking it to the office. Here it is."

"That's a likely story," said the porter.

We three went to the office, where my explanation was listened to with evident distrust. But the young lady, having secured her ring, was not minded to press the matter, and it was dropped, but not for long. In half an hour, while I was sitting near the hotel entrance, a policeman entered, the clerk pointed to me, and I was taken into custody.

I was led to the police station to answer to a charge of robbery and, fortunately having evidences of property with me, was enabled to give bail for my appearance the next day. Returning to the hotel, I asked the clerk why the matter was to be pushed. He replied that the lady had missed something else—she would not say what—and it had made her very angry. I tried to think of something I had misappropriated besides the ring, but could remember nothing. Later, upon putting my hand in my pocket for my handkerchief, I took out the little pack-

NEWS NOTES FROM BUSTLING SAN BRUNO

A. Hildreth and sister of Fred, Leland, Alvie and Ray Maede, died at San Mateo last Sunday morning. She had been taken to a hospital in that city that she might be treated for a sudden illness that required skillful nursing and constant care, but in spite of all that human knowledge of physician's skill and solicitous attention could do she passed away. Mrs. Smith with her husband were pioneers, having come to San Bruno five years ago when only a very few people had taken up a residence here. Her lovable disposition kept pace with the growth since that time. During that period and particularly in 1906, much misery befel the people and she proved herself an angel of mercy, always forgetting herself in order to make others happy. The funeral took place from the residence of her mother at 1:30 p. m. The remains were escorted to the Methodist church by the Dorcas society, Woodcraft Circle No. 693 and Yeomen No. 410, of which societies Mrs. Smith was a member, and followed by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The church was crowded. Revs. Ralston and Null preached the funeral sermons. The Dorcas society, of which the deceased was a charter member, sang hymns. The beautiful ceremony of the Woodcraft Circle was rendered at the conclusion of the sermon, and violets, the last token of a farewell, were placed on the casket as the members marched in single file as a fitting conclusion to a sister's tribute. Two crowded cars of friends accompanied the remains to Cypress Lawn cemetery where the Yeomen conducted the service according to the ritual of the order. The ceremony was very impressive and was concluded with a march around the grave, into which each member dropped a green sprig. The pallbearers were Peter Bollinger, Al Valentine, Dr. H. F. Smith, A. A. Pudsey, J. F. Allison, A. A. Green, representing the Yeomen and the Woodmen of the World. Flowers were sent by many friends and organizations. The following names were attached to cards and many more that at this writing could not be obtained: Mr. and Mrs. H. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Walsh and family, Methodist church and Sunday school, Miss Ella Ross of Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Emilie and Miss Ella Bantshoff of San Francisco, Mrs. L. Bollinger, Alfred Deloso, Mrs. Beckner, Mrs. Laumeister and Mrs. E. E. Fallett. Floral pieces were sent by organizations and friends, as follows: Yeomen 910, Women of Woodcraft 693, Woodmen of the World 410, Harmony Club, Dorcas Society, the five brothers of deceased, Harry Veleno and family, Dr. H. F. Smith, H. F. Holmes, A. J. Berge and Peter Bollinger, John and Lillie Moni, Carl Jensen and family, and Mrs. Alfred Connelly of Berkeley. The heartfelt sympathy of a legion of friends is extended to the sorrowing family.

South City Aerie, No. 1473, held its third grand picnic at Tanforan Park Sunday the 14th instant. The attendance was not so large as in previous years. The many attractions elsewhere on that day militated somewhat against its success. Those present had a most enjoyable time. Amusements of various kinds were provided—trotting races by the local driving club, bicycle races, etc. Backstedt's orchestra discoursed delightful music. Many politicians were in evidence and the refreshment stands did a thriving trade. Perfect weather prevailed.

Progress Camp, No. 425, Woodmen of the World, held its usual quarterly social and card party Wednesday evening last. Invitations extended to the local Circle of Woodcraft and members of San Bruno Camp and Circle, brought out a record-breaking crowd. It was a time to be remembered. The stories told were immense. Banker W. J. Smith told of the banker's dream. Manager Pete Lind related his round the world travels. P. C. C. Chalmers gave a few comical stunts. Neighbor Kiessling related "Why I Became a Woodman." Mr. and Mrs. Fourcans sang a duet. Clerk Robinson was forceful in advancing the high school project. Messrs. Farrell, Fourcans, Welte and Robinson danced an old time jig. M. Empenia related old country experiences. The entertainment concluded by Harry Edwards singing, that old song, "There's Life in the Old Boy Yet." Cards, progressive eucher, whist etc., were indulged in, after which light refreshments were served. Then good night.

HOLDUP AT HILLCREST

Last Tuesday two men entered the grocery store of George Nichols in broad daylight, and by holding Mr. Nichols at bay with a pistol, stole the contents of a money bag, amounting to $700.

Nichols had been sent to the rear of the store to get some matches. When the robbers left he was told to stay where he was for a half hour, and that if he moved sooner they would kill him. After waiting a few minutes, Nichols gave an alarm, but the robbers had disappeared.

Sheriff Chatham and a posse searched the neighboring country until midnight, but no trace of the thieves was found.

Sheriff Chatham believes these are the same men who robbed the home of Chas. Vandembos at Hillsborough Sunday night when several thousand dollars worth of jewelry and family heirlooms were stolen.
